

Gavriella Schuster

Gavriella Schuster spent 26 years at Microsoft, where she was instrumental in the company's cloud transformation. As Corporate Vice President, Gavriella led the charge in making Microsoft Azure a leading cloud platform. She redefined the Microsoft's global partner program, driving the shift from on-premise to cloud services and building a robust ecosystem with more than 90,000 cloud partners and more than 12,000 marketplace solutions.

She also launched the Cloud Solution Provider program, which reached $10 billion in annual revenue within four years. Schuster's leadership in cloud computing was integral to Microsoft's expansion into a $50 billion a year cloud business.

Gavriella leveraged her passion for gender equity in an program she spearheaded to empower women in tech called the Women in Cloud initiative. Her leadership significantly strengthened Microsoft's ecosystem and made lasting impacts on both corporate culture and business outcomes.